CHANEL

RESPONSIBLE JEWELLERY STATEMENT 2025

Chanel Watches & Fine Jewellery creates watches, precious jewellery and high jewellery using raw materials such as gold and other precious metals, diamonds, pearls and other gemstones.

Chanel is a member of the Responsible Jewellery Council (RJC) and has been certified by the RJC since 2011. The RJC is the primary standard setting organisation for the jewellery and watches industry, working with more than 1,800 members globally to advance sustainable supply chains and responsible business practices. The RJC Code of Practices is the only industry standard covering the entire jewellery and watch supply chain. In support of Chanel's sustainability ambition, Chanel has renewed its RJC certification in 2024 under the 2019 Code of Practices.

This Responsible Jewellery Statement supports this RJC certification and highlights where information on Chanel's responsible business practices can be located online:

- Chanel's Company Report and Financial Statement, which is published annually, is publicly available on Companies House, a United Kingdom Government website
- Chanel Sustainability Performance Extract FY2024
    - Basis of Reporting document for Chanel's Company Report and Financial Statement and Chanel Sustainability Performance Extract
- Chanel Net-Zero 2040
- UK Modern Slavery Statement
- California Transparency in Supply Chains
- UK Gender Pay Gap Report
- Employment opportunities, examples from the United States and United Kingdom
- Chanel Fine Jewellery FAQ
- Chanel Watches FAQ

Date: November 2025